I do NOT want my money to go to these projects:

- F/A-22 Raptor Aircraft: "Winner of the prize for single most irrelevant weapons program." — Foreign Policy in Focus / Center for Defense Information Report
Total program cost: $72 billion
- V-22 Osprey: Total program cost: $48 billion
- Missile Defense: The Center for Arms Control and Non-Proliferation released a report (2003) estimating that the entire life-cycle cost of the various missile defense programs being examined by the Bush administration could range from $800 billion to $1.2 trillion.

Instead, I would like my money to go to these projects:

- Cutting our reliance on foreign oil in half over ten years
- Increasing funding for homeland security and medical research
- Providing health insurance to all our children who lack it
- Saving millions of lives in impoverished nations
- Reducing the deficit

End Result

Just 15% of the Pentagon budget is $60 billion! Redirected to real human needs, that's gotta be good news for our country. Thank you for all you do.

➤ $60,000,000,000
for good stuff. Cool.
